

Producing an A-Z list for titles available via Stanford University's HighWire Press

An A-Z list can be produced on demand by anyone using the instructions below. If you need assistance, please contact HighWire's customer service staff via <http://highwire.stanford.edu/cgi/feedback>.

After a set of fields and format(s) are defined by the community, HighWire will begin to program a regular list that can be picked up from a standard location. In the meantime, the on-demand list will provide the same information.

Step 1. Go to the HighWire Press home page at <http://highwire.stanford.edu>

The screenshot shows the HighWire Press home page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, My HighWire, Alerts, Search, Browse, For Institutions, and For Publishers. Below this is a search section with a text input field for 'Anywhere in Text:', a search button, and various filters for authors, citation, and dates. There is also a 'Customize My HighWire' section with an email field and a password field. The 'Browse' section is visible at the bottom, showing a grid of journal titles and a 'Browse by' menu.

Step 2. Click on the For Institutions tab at the top right of the HighWire home page

The screenshot shows the 'For Institutions' page. The navigation bar is updated to include 'For Institutions'. The main content area is titled 'Information and Services for Institutional Subscribers' and contains several sections: 'Browse Journal Titles', 'Get Answers', 'HighWire News and Events', 'HighWire Current - Metadata Repository', 'Features of HighWire-hosted journals', 'Content archiving', 'Useful Lists of Journals', 'SHOP FOR JOURNALS!', 'MANAGE YOUR SUBSCRIPTIONS', 'MANAGEMENT TASKS', and 'View Subscription Lists'. The 'Get Answers' link is highlighted in the left-hand column.

To get answers to questions about one or more journals:
 1. First, select the questions you want answered.
 2. Then, select the journal(s) you want the questions to relate to.
 3. To get a report containing the answers, click the 'Submit' button (tab-delimited report for uploading to a spreadsheet is also available).

Results:
 If you select more than one journal, the results will come to you in email.
 To see a report for just one journal, click "[answers to all questions]" next to its name below and you will see the answers in your browser. You may also view a sample report.

To get answers to questions not listed below, we have made it easy to send email to multiple publishers.

1. Select the questions you want answered:

GENERAL (jump to: content access control print journal)

- Brief description of the journal
- How do I contact the journal for subscription information?
- Who is the publisher?
- Where is the publisher's home page?
- What is the main URL for the journal site?
- What is the URL for use from these locations: Australia, Brazil, China, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Singapore, South Africa, South Korea, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, The Netherlands, UK?
- What is the online ISSN number?
- What is the print ISSN number?
- In which HighWire Press subject topics is the journal found?
- What are the Terms and Conditions for use of the online site?
- Do individuals and institutions have permission to make links directly to pages within the journal and site?
- What organization (i.e. society) is editorially responsible for the journal?

Step 4. Check the questions needed for an A-Z list

1. Select the questions you want answered:

GENERAL (jump to: content access control print journal)

- Brief description of the journal
- How do I contact the journal for subscription information?
- Who is the publisher?
- Where is the publisher's home page?
- What is the main URL for the journal site?
- What is the URL for use from these locations: Australia, Brazil, China, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Singapore, South Africa, South Korea, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, The Netherlands, UK?
- What is the online ISSN number?
- What is the print ISSN number?
- In which HighWire Press subject topics is the journal found?
- What are the Terms and Conditions for use of the online site?
- Do individuals and institutions have permission to make links directly to pages within the journal and site?
- What organization (i.e. society) is editorially responsible for the journal?

CONTENT (jump to: general access control print journal)

- Are URLs for content in the journal stable (i.e., persistent)?
- Which ISI Categories is the journal in?
- How many articles have been published online to date?
- What is the ISI Impact Factor?
- How many issues are currently published each year?
- What is the average number of pages printed per year?
- Does the journal deposit its content in CrossRef?
- If the journal deposits its content in CrossRef, what is the DOI Prefix/publisher ID?
- If the journal deposits its content in CrossRef, what is the date and volume of the first deposit?
- What is the range of content online?
- Are there free back issues?
- Is this a free site?

ACCESS CONTROL (jump to: general content print journal)

- What is the cost of an online subscription?
- Is institutional access limited to libraries only? to selected computers only?
- Do institutions have access to all content, or does it exclude certain content types like PDFs?
- Is an online institutional subscription included free with every print institutional subscription?
- Does the site allow access via institutional subscription?
- Is the use of authenticated user IP addresses allowed for granting access to off-campus users?

These questions are in the General and Content sections:

General

- What is the main URL for the journal site?
- What is the online ISSN number?
- What is the print ISSN number?

Content

- What is the range of content online?
- Are there free back issues?
- Is this a free site?

The journal title will automatically be supplied. The last two questions need only be checked if you are interested in identifying which journals are either freely available online or have back issues made free by publisher policy.

Step 5. Indicate which journals you are interested in

If you want a final list alphabetical by journal title, click Select All Journals. If you want a list alphabetical by journal within Publisher, click View List By Publisher first, then Select All Journals. You will need to check the “Who is the publisher?” question (in the General section) to include the publisher name in your final list.

Step 6. Provide your email address and check the box to generate a tab-delimited file

Be very sure you check the box for a tab-delimited file!

Step 7. Click Submit

After a few minutes, you will receive two emails. One message includes the requested data in an HTML email format; the second message includes a link to your tab-delimited file with instructions for accessing the report (which is not in the email, and will only be available for an hour or two) and for formatting it for import into Excel:

A tab-delimited report has been generated for you to use. Use the following instructions to import into a spreadsheet.

- To view this file in a browser window, use this report link.
- Once the browser window opens up with your report, use the 'Save As ...' function of your browser
- Save a copy of the report to your computer with a filename extension of .txt. For example, journalinfo.txt
- Once you've saved the file to your machine, start your spreadsheet program.
- Once your spreadsheet program is running, use the open or import function on the report. The report you saved to your computer is a text file and is tab-delimited. (You'll use this information when importing into the spreadsheet program.)

When you click “Open” be sure to select files of type text.

When the Text Import Wizard starts, select the Delimited radio button, and Tab as the delimiter:

You may want to adjust the column width of the resulting spreadsheet for easy reading:

You or your serials management system provider can work with the above data to generate an accurate catalog.

Notes:

1. If you see

No information has been supplied by the publisher. Please go to the journal's home page and search for the information there: TRUE for a title, that means the publisher has not provided HighWire with permission or information to display the journal information. You may wish to contact the publisher directly if you are unable to locate the needed information online.

2. Generally, the “Earliest PDF Full Text date” is of primary interest. In only a very few sites is the HTML full text earlier than the PDF full text. This is the date to use for catalogs and open URL resolvers.
3. If you want to include only free journals or journals with free back issues, you may use the last two fields to subset the whole spreadsheet to only those journals.
4. All HighWire-hosted journal sites carry the most current content that is being published. There are a (very) few sites whose journals are no longer publishing.
5. There is no way to limit the spreadsheet to include only those journals to which you subscribe.
